

Plastic Test Tubes, Non Sterile Disposable Polystyrene Culture Tubes

These non sterile culture tubes are made of transparent polystyrene that offers clarity to guarantee no chance of glass activation during testing. This material will accept aqueous solutions, mild bases, and weak acids, though it will not tolerate organic solvents, aromatic or chlorinated hydrocarbons. These disposable tubes can be used for many routine laboratory procedures such as RIA, coagulation, and bacteriology. To ensure consistency in size and shape, and that they are chemically clean, these plastic test tubes are manufactured using a precision molding process using virgin thermoplastics. To avoid errors and interference in RIA tests, no mold release agents are used with these culture tubes. Pair the 5 ml and 12 ml culture tubes with 12 mm or 16 mm PE flange plug caps to create a secure seal.

The bulk cases of 1,000 tubes are packed in 4 bags of 250 tubes each. The smaller case packs of 250 tubes are safely packaged in 1 bag.
