

Glass Flasks, Glass Volumetric Flasks, Ray-Sorb Processed w/ Color-Coded PTFE Stoppers

These glass volumetric flasks come with compatible color-coded PTFE stoppers, and feature the added benefit of Ray-Sorb processing, which provides protection to light-sensitive flask contents from potentially damaging short-wave light rays. The glass volumetric flasks w/ Ray-Sorb treatment produce only a 5% transmission rate from 400 - 600nm, and less than 1% light transmission below 400nm, in comparison to standard clear glass flasks.

Available in 11 capacities from 5 ml - 2000 ml (2 L), the glass flasks are clearly marked with permanent white capacity labels for easy identification of flask sizes. They feature durable heavy-duty glass walls for strength and protection from breakage, and allow easy access with pipettes due to the wide mouths of the glass volumetric flasks.
